BLOODY BULL FIGHT

10,000 SPECTATORS WITNESS THE DISEMBOWELING OF A MATADOR.

Russians Sent to Siberia for Forging a Will-George Gould Calls on Dunraven-No French Ministry.

LONDON, May 27.-A dispatch to the Times from Madrid says that there was a sickening spectacle in the bull ring there this afternoon. El Espartero, a well-known young matador, while engaging the first buil sent into the ring, was caught by one of the horns of the animal and his abdomen was ripped open. He died five minutes

The bull had killed four horses and he became extremely fierce when the bander-Illeros fixed their darts in his neck. Sixteen thousand persons were watching the fight and the excitement was intense. The bull was almost in the center of the arena, pawing the ground and tossing his head. His eyes gleamed wickedly as El Espertero approached him with his usual daring, which brought forth plaudits from the spectators. As he got near the infuriated bull made a rush for him and knocked him down. He was not apparently hurt, for he sprang nimbly to his feet and again attacked the animal, which had wheeled about preparatory to making another charge. There was a moment of suspense, and then with lowered head the bull rushed at the matagor, who sprang to one side and plunged his dagger into the neck of the animal. Just as he did so the bull swung his head in the direction of El Espertero, at the same time lifting it. One of the animal's horns caught the unfortunate matador in the abdomen and tore his body open almost up to the chest. Blood poured from the ghastly wound in a tor-rent as El Espertero sank fainting to the ground. He was at once carried to an in-firmary, where the doctors pronounced his Injuries mortal. A priest was summoned and administered extreme unction to the dying man in the presence of many gorgeously attired bull fighters, all of whom knelt bareheaded about the couch on which the dying man had been placed. In five minutes the man was dead.

The spectators, or at least the greater portion of them, did not propose that their pleasure should be spoiled by the death of a man who had been well paid to assist in making a holiday for them, and so the progress he says Stanislaus Koscinski was fight continued as soon as the excitement deputized to place a dynamite bomb in his had somewhat subsided. All the fought well, killing fifteen horses and flooring two of the toreadors, who were severe-El Espertero was engaged to be married and the wedding was to have taken place shortly. He was extremely popular and had made a large fortune. It was his intention to retire from the ring next year.

SENTENCED TO SIBERIA.

Fate of Count Sollogoub and Four Other Russians Who Forged a Will. ST. PETERSBURG, May 27 .- A sensational will case that has been before the courts here ended to-day in the conviction, on a charge of forgery, of Count Sollogoub and four other persons, including two lawyers. Some time ago a wealthy man named Vladimir Gribanow died. Shortly afterward a document, purporting to be his will, was offered for probate. According to the terms of this will the sum of 1,000,000 roubles was bequeathed conjointly to Madame Gribanow and Count Sollogoub, who is a grandson of the celebrated Russian writer of that name. A suspicion was raised that the will was not genuine, and the matter was carried to court, with the the matter was carried to court, with the result above stated. All five of the convicted persons were sentenced to banishment to Siberla. Count Sollogoub's young son, who was a military officer, shot him-self dead with a revolver when he heard the sentence imposed on his father.

Annuities of the Lesseps. PARIS, May 27 .- The report of the Suez Canal Company, mentioning the fact that Ferdinand De Lesseps has been replaced by Vice President Guychard as acting president, states that the directors are unanimously of the opinion that the company has a great duty to fulfill toward the founder of the enterprise. It is therefore proposed that the shareholders vote life annuities to the members of the De Lesseps family. It is proposed that an annuity of 60,000 francs go to the thirteen children of M. De Lesseps, and the same amount to Mme. De esseps during the lifetime of her husband, and 40,000 francs after his death. The 20,000 francs resulting from this reduction of Mme. De Lesseps's annuity will be divided among the children surviving M. De Lesseps. In case of the death of any of the children the survivors will have their annuities inamounted to 76,579,992 francs, and the expenses, including 5 per cent. interest, to 36,964,455 francs, leaving a profit of about 40,000,000 francs, giving a dividend of 72 francs, which, added to the 5 per cent. interest, makes 97 francs per share.

Hard to Get a French Ministry. PARIS, May 27 .- M. Dupuy, who is trying to form a Cabinet, continued his conferences this afternoon with the men whom he desires to accept office in his proposed Ministry. The chief difficulty that M. Dupuy is meeting with relates to the portfolios of foreign affairs and finance. M. Burdeaux and Boulanger have both re-fused to take office. President Carnot this evening had a long interview with M. Burdeaux, but the latter persisted in his re-fusal to accept the finance portfolio. Tomorrow President Carnot will have a conference with Boulanger, and if he still re-fuses to take the office proffered him, M. Dupuy will abandon the task of forming a Ministry.

Frances Willard's London Farewell. LONDON, May 27.-A farewell service was held at St. James Hall to-day in connection with the departure from England of Miss Frances Willard, the well-known American temperance advocate. Lady Somerset, who is very prominent in the temperance movement in Great Britain, and of whom Miss Willard has been the guest, made a brief address, in which she said she regretted to announce that she had learned that Sir William Vernon-Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, had decided to withdraw the local veto bill from the House of Commons. Gould and Lord Dunraven.

LONDON, May 27.-George Gould, owner of the Vigilant, to-day visited Lord Dunraven, owner of the Valkyrie, at Rys Castle, Isle of Wight. Mr. Gould subsequently told a representative of the press that the visit was simply a friendly one, and not for the purpose of fixing the date for a contest between their respective yachts.

Mr. Gould, however, added that the matter of a race was discussed in an informal doves, white hares, catapults, currycombs, fire tongs, scarlet hosiery, night caps, knives, lances and cross-bows. Moreover, at the coronation the Lord of the Manor at Addington must present to the sovereign a "dish of pottage," composed of almond milk, brawn of capons, sugar and spices, chickens parbolled and chopped. And at the same ceremony the Lord of the Manor of Haydon is obliged, by virtue of his ten-fure from the crown, to present the mon-arch with a towel, the Lord of the Manor of Workshop giving the sovereign a "right-handed glove." Queen Victoria has likewise a vested right in all treasure trove, wreckage, ownerless animals, and in the estates of people dying intestate and without any legal heirs. Her right to every whale or sturgeon captured on the coast of the United Kingdom and brought to land is a perquisite dating back to the days of the Norman kings, in order that the royal wardrobe might be replenished with the whalebone needed for the stiffening of the Queen's garments. Another of the Queen's baksheesh is a certain number of magnificent cashmere shawls, which are dispatched to her every year from the kingdom of Cashmere. They vary in value, as a rule, from $300 to $1,200 apiece, and the Queen is accustomed to present one of them as a wedding present to every young girl of the aristocracy or in whose future she is in any way interested.

REVENGEFUL POLACKS

CRIMES CHARGED BY A DEPOSED CATHOLIC PASTOR AT CLEVELAND.

Murder of a Man and Attempted Murder of a Woman Who Had Knowledge of a Dynamite Plot.

CLEVELAND, O., May 27.-Late last night a Polish woman named Mrs. Elizabeth Janicki, was found wandering in the streets in the southern part of the city, suffering from a bad wound in her head. She said she had been assaulted by a man, but before she could give the particulars of the assault she became unconscious and was removed to a hospital. She has not yet recovered consciousness. Rev. A. F. Kolaszewski, the deposed pastor of St. Stanislaus Catholic Church, makes a startling charge in connection with the assault. He declares that Mrs. Janicki was the principal witness in possession of information about a plot to blow him up with dynamite. When the row at St. Stansllaus Church was in buggy. After his deposition Rev. Kolaszewski went to Syracuse, N. Y., and he declares that Koscinsk! followed him to that city, and with a crucifix in his hand, con-fessed the part he was to take in the plot. A short time thereafter a Polish printing office in this city was destroyed by fire. In the ruins of the building the dead body of Koscinski was found with a knife wound in the abdomen. Rev. Kolaszewski says that Koscinski was murdered and his body burned to conceal the crime by persons who knew of his confession, and that an attempt has been made to rut Mrs. Janicki out of the way because of her knowledge of the plot. The other faction of St. Stanislaus congregation laugh at till priest's story, but the police are investigating the

Two Men Killed and Three Coaches Burned at Pine Grove.

PITTSBURG, May 27 .- To-day as the Baltimore & Ohio express No. 9, west bound, reached the sharp curve at Pine Grove station, nine miles this side of Meyersdale, a wreck occurred in which two men were killed and another so severely injured that he will probably die. A huge rock weighing about fifty tons had rolled on the tracks and the engine crashed into it with great force, completely demolishing engine and tender and wrecking three bag-

REMARKABLE INCREASE OF THE CITY'S INDUSTRIES IN A DECADE.

Growth of Indianapolis Manufactures as Shown by Census Statistics-Other Indiana Cities.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WASHINGTON, May 27 .- The Census Bureau made public to-day the long-delayed statistics of the manufacturing industries of the principal cities in the United States. The statistics for Indianapolis show by a comparison made with the figures for 1880 a most gratifying increase, as is shown by the following tabular statement:

1890. Number of industries reported Number establishments $14,510,379 $32,023,851

Population 75,056

This shows that the number of establishments reporting has increased nearly 34 per cent.; that the capital invested has increased 31.50 per cent.; that the number of hands employed has increased 45.68 per cent., and that the amount of wages paid has nearly doubled, having increased 83.94 per cent. A striking feature of these returns is the satisfactory increase in the number of establishments reported. Still more gratifying is the increase during the decade in the number of hands employed and the amount of wages paid; the wages have increase not only actually, but relatively, the average wages per hand increasing from $392 in 1880 to $495 in 1890, or 26.28 per cent. Following are the statistics for Indianapolis in detail:

THE SEVENTEEN-YEAR LOCUSTS. A Periodical Visitor Expected on Staten Island This Season.

New York Evening Post. When Henry Thoreau lived on Staten island in 1843 as tutor in the family of Judge William Emerson, the brother of the Concord philosopher, he wrote a letter to his mother on the 7th of July, in which he speaks of the seventeen-year locust or cl-cada. "Pray," says he, "have you the seventeen-year locust in Concord? The air here is filled with their din. They come out of the ground at first in an imperfect state, and, crawling up the shrubs and plants, the perfect insects burst out through the back. and, crawling up the shrubs and plants, the perfect insects burst out through the back. They are doing great damage to the fruit and forest trees. The latter are covered with dead twigs, which in the distance look like the blossoms of the chestnut. They bore every twig of last year's growth in order to deposit their eggs in it. In a few weeks the eggs will be hatched and the worms fall to the ground and enter it, and in 1860 make their appearance again. and in 1860 make their appearance again. I conversed about their coming this season before they arrived. They do no injury to the leaves, but, besides boring the twigs, suck the sap for sustenance. Their din is heard by those who sail along the shore from the distant woods? Phar-r-oh, Phar-r-oh. They are departing now. Dogs, cats and chickens subsist mainly upon them in some places."

This account by Thoreau gives a very good idea of the life and habits of what is certainly one of the most remarkable insects. It must be remembered that he only refers to one of the broods or colonies of the seventeen-year locust, for the insect makes its appearance in great numbers in different parts of the United States in difdifferent parts of the United States in dif-ferent years. Thus the brood, of which Dr. Fitch, who was State Entomologist for a long time, wrote of as inhabiting the valley of the Hudson river, has appeared in the vicinity of this city in 1809, 1826, 1843, 1860 and in 1877. From this record it will be seen that 1894 is the year for its reappear-ance, and in a few weeks, particularly in the latter part of May and in June, their monotonous song will sound along the Olive Branch Committee That Was Appointed to Confer with Professor Smith-Other Religions.

SARATOGA, May 27 .- Five thousand people packed Convention Hall to-day to participate in the celebration of Memorial day under the auspices of 'the Young Men's Christian Association, the Presbyterian General Assembly and the Baptist anniversaries now in session. The services were conducted by Comrade Charles H. Banos, of Philadelphia, assisted by Chaplain H. C. McCook, D. D., of Philadelphia, Dr. Alexander Blackburn, of Cambridge, Mass., and General Morgan, late Indian Commissioner. The oration was delivered by Dr. Arthur J. Brown, of Portland, Ore., on Abraham Lincoln. In the evening a popular meeting was held in the First Presbyterian Church on the subject of higher Christian education, at which Prof. Purves presided. Short addresses were delivered by Dr. Craig, of Chicago, Dr. Dinsmore, of San Jose, Dr. Litta, of Texas, Dr. Ray, secretary of the Presbyterian board of aid for colleges, and others. Later a union meeting of Presbyterians and Bap-tists was held in Convention Hail, at which Dr. Mutchmore, moderator of the assembly, presided. Ten-minute addresses were delivered by Dr. McCook, of Philadelphia, Dr. Marquis, of Chicago, and Dr. Hinton, of San Francisco, as representatives of the Presbyterians; and by Dr. Whitman, president of Colby University, Waterville, Me., Dr. Stakely, of Washington, D. C., and Dr. Gordon, of Boston, for the Baptists. The attendance was large and the meeting continued till a late hour.

For the Endeavorers.

CLEVELAND, O., May 27.-The committee in charge of the arrangements for the convention of the Christian Endeavor societies to be held here in July says that ample accommodation will be provided for all the delegates who attend. For a time it was thought that difficulty would be experienced in finding places for all to sleep, but within the last week there has been a generous response on the part of the peo-ple and no trouble on that score will now be experienced.

The Gentle Reader. Scribner's Magazine.

Every one who has ever launched a book which has drifted in even a moderate de-gree into the current of public favor must remember how overwhelming a proportion of whatever subsequent satisfaction he got from it was due to that simple, old-fashioned, uncritical personage, the gentle read-er, who reads books for the promotion of his own happiness, and, if he likes them, knows it and is cheerfully ready to say so. For the faults or shortcomings of a book the gentle reader doesn't much care if only there is a grace in it somewhere to which his soul responds. If it is verse, it does not concern him that Tennyson wrote better; if it is a story, he does not throw it down because it is not the equal of "Vanity Fair." If it gives him real pleasure, in sufficient quantity to pay for the time he fair." If it gives him real pleasure, in sufficient quantity to pay for the time he spent in reading it, he declares that it is a good book and is ready to thank the author and buy and read the next book that he sends out. He, or perhaps I should say she, is the reader that the author loves and esteems and counts upon to quiet his own literary compunctions. But the reader who has himself dabbled much in writing can seldom be a gentle reader afterward.

Complication of Diseases Cured by

Mrs. Ben. Shetterly Buchanan, Mich.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: "Dear Sirs: From childhood I had been a great sufferer from scrofula, having a tumor on my left breast and another in my stomach. I was also afflicted with salt rheum. We spent much money for medical attendance and remedies, but all to no avail. Three years ago I commenced to run down. The trouble with my stomach would not allow me to eat and even milk distressed me very much. My right hand and arm became almost paralyzed, and my stomach difficulty was fast developing into Serious Female Troubles.

I became very nervous and was subject to fainting spells. Dark spots appeared before my eyes. The doctors failed to help me. In the spring I read about the wonderful cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to give it a trial. After taking it a short time I commenced to feel better, my digestion improved, and the burning sensation in my stomach and bowels ceased. Shortly I was able to work about the house, standing on my feet considerably, something I had not done for months before. For two summers I have done

After recess there was a secret session, which lasted from 2 to 5 o'clock, during which time there was considerable argument in the matter of the federation of all the brotherhoods, which resulted in the appointment of a committee to which the matter was referred. The proper method of legislative work in the future was also discussed and referred to the same committee, with instructions to report to-morrow. The evening meeting was rather thinly attended. Speeches were made by E. E. Ciark, F. P. Sargent, grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, P. H. Morrissy, of the railway trainmen, and L. C. Yeung, of Macon, Ga.

woodpaths and country roads. From the valley of the Hudson this brood extends through New Jersey into Pennsylvania and In these latter days of science the various broods throughout the country have been numbered so that they may be referred to with convenience and accuracy, and the distribution of each is fairly well known.

Between the "locust year" mentioned above the cicadas have occasionally appeared in the vicinity of New York city in some numbers, though not so plentifully as to attract general attention. This will be readly understood when it is considered that the limits of the various broods are not sharp, the cicadas appearing in decreasing numbers toward their outskirts, which often slightly overlap. Consequently when the insects appear in numbers in portions of Pennsylvania or western New York there will in all probability be a few in this vicinity also. This was the case in 1881, 1885, 1883, 1892 and 1893, in each of which NEW YORK, May 27 .- The convention of the railroad employes of America asyears they were observed on Staten island or in some other suburb of the city. Those that made their appearance last summer, and during that of 1892, were probably presembled here to-day. When the gavel fell at 11:30 o'clock this morning at Lennox Lyceum over six hundred representatives cursors of the general swarm that is to come in a few weeks and fill the trees with their din. These forerunners have been known to appear in some numbers before the advent of the general assembly, and show that each brood is slightly indefinite in time as well as in extent. The English sparrow has proved in the past a mighty enemy to the periodical cicada, and bids fair to reduce his kind considerably. The sparrow usually catches the insect by one of the fore wings, whereupon it flaps about violently and ends by breaking the large rib or vein that runs along the margin and makes the wing stiff and capable of striking the air to some purpose. This rib being broken the insect cannot fly, and is only capable of buzzing about on the ground, and the sparrow may let go his hold and proceed to attack other vulnerable points, which he is not slow in doing. There is also a fungus, known as massospora cicadina, that is quite destructive to these insects. Even when they are alive and quite active their abdomens will be filled with the spores of this fungus, and if they are tapped sharply with the finger the spores are given forth in a cloud, reminding one of a similar experiment often performed with the common puffball.
